

Title of the book you are reviewing, 中文书名如果有, by Author One and Author Two. City of Press: Name of Press, 2016. 245 pp. ISBN: 123-1234560789 (cloth; also available in paper and as ebook).

Reviewed by Reviewer's Name (Reviewer's Institution)

Book review top headings should consist of the following, in the order given: title, in italics, followed by a comma and the author's name, then a period; city of publisher, followed by a colon, the publisher's name, a comma, the year of publication, and a period; the number of pages, e.g., "245 pp" followed by a period; and the ISBN number, e.g., "ISBN: 123-1234560789"; and available formats in parentheses, e.g., "(cloth; also available in paper and as ebook)."

Except for the first paragraph, please start each paragraph with a quarter-inch indentation. The first paragraph does not indent. Do not leave spaces between paragraphs, except between the top headings and the first paragraph, between the last paragraph and the author information at the end, and between the author information and the references. If your review has subheadings, the subheadings should be formatted according to the JB Guidelines (<https://benjamins.com/jbp/additional/jb-guidelines-manuscript-submission-apa.pdf>).

Quotations from authors, as well as English terms and expressions, should be in double quotation marks, unless they are longer than 3 lines, in which case see the JB Guidelines' "Layout" rules. Translations of cited forms, e.g., of Chinese examples translated into English, should be in single quotation marks. All commas and periods go inside both single and double quotation marks.

All book and article titles (cited in text or in the reference list) should be given in sentence format, with the first word capitalized. Journal titles should be given in italics, and in headline format, with all major words capitalized. Book titles should be in italics. Chinese book titles, however, do not require italics.

Please use commas between name and year in in-text citations. Follow the example at the end of this sentence: (Smith, 1996). If there is a page number, use the following as a model (Smith, 1996, p. 218). If there are multiple authors, use semicolons to separate them (Smith, 1996; Jones, 2005; Miller, 2016). At the end of the review, list the references cited, and include your mailing and email addresses. Please use the APA format. See below for a sample.

Use single spacing throughout the review. Use Times New Roman, 12-point font. Use "justify text" alignment.

Please keep your review between 3-5 (1200-2000 words) pages with the above formatting applied. Please comment on both the strengths of the books/materials you are reviewing and areas to improve.
